Kirtland Elementary Master Schedule Update-Katy Nagy

*Met with teams of teachers last year, spent time looking at how they get a good grasp of where their students are and then what do they do w/that data?

*Two full-time Title I teachers in KES building

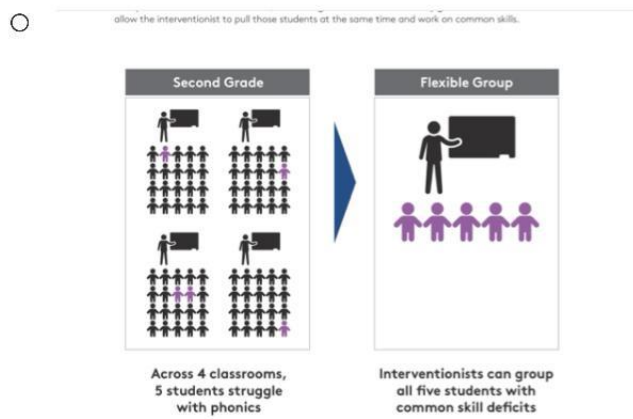

*T's had a half hour block in day and would take struggling readers and would use that time to teach them. Re-looked at how we are doing things, used consults from ESC & research: determined what the elements of the Master Schedule. New plan works well to help Ss

*ELEMENTS OF MASTER SCHEDULE:

KES Master Schedule

Elements of a Master Schedule:

- Uninterrupted blocks of time for reading and math
- Daily intervention and enrichment periods
- Consistent allocation of time across grade levels
- Common collaboration opportunities for staff
- Efficient use of specials staff
- Grouping students based on needs for interventions

Mr. Amstutz Presented: Using Gradebook Data

“ What does our data tell us?”

Data can show us how we currently use the data and new ways to move data moving forward.

NEW: Look @ gradebook as a whole; Look @ details inside gradebook; Look @ Quarterly Benchmark Assessments in gradebook; Look @ standards on each Quarterly Benchmark Assessments in the gradebook.

*For T's what does gradebook tell you about any one of your S's, your classes, professional practice & does your gradebook give a complete, accurate story about what is happening in your classroom?

*Each T is given an Assessment Frequency Report

CTE (Career Tech Ed) Middle School Waiver

Every year we have to have a Board Resolution if not offering career tech @ KMS, but we are doing a lot of things along those lines (career tech Ed) working with PLT and Auburn Career Center who will come in to do work with KMS students.
